

Purchasing Pet Drugs Online: Buyer Beware!

"Discount pet drugs — no prescription required" may appeal to pet owners surfing the Web, but FDA experts say it can be risky to buy drugs online from sites that tout this message and others like it.

When ordering online:

1. Order from a Web site that belongs to a Vet-VIPPS accredited pharmacy.
2. Mail the prescription provided by your veterinarian to the pharmacy after your pet receives a physical examination.
3. Order from an outsourced prescription management service that your veterinarian uses.

A veterinarian should physically examine your pet prior to making a diagnosis to determine the appropriate therapy.

Safe.
Sealed.
Delivered.

Our Home Delivery is powered by VetSource. Which means you can count on your pet's medication being checked and double-checked by pharmacists to make sure it's accurate and won't react with any other meds your pet may be taking.

And because of VetSource's close relationship with our veterinarians, products are all purchased directly from the manufacturer. So there is no difference between what is delivered to your door and what you would pick up from us.

So unlike other sources, you can count on your pet's medications being delivered safely and securely right to your home, every time.

Knock knock. It's fleas and ticks.

It's that time of the year where those pesky fleas and ticks are at your door. Luckily the meds to prevent an infestation can be too. Shop our flea and tick prevention products, and get them delivered to your home, so that your pets are ready for action.
